WHITE RIBBON AGAINST PORNOGRAPHY

WRAP -- White Ribbon Against Pornography -- has been recognized at Lakeridge Jr. High School during the month of February. We have banners up in the hall way and on Thursday, February 10th we had "Fight the New Drug" come and present valuable information about this important topic of media and its influence on our children. Many kids pledged by their signature to take measures to be clean of pornography.

We would strongly encourage you to have conversations about this with your youth and strengthen your relationship with them in all areas. One excellent resource is found at www.womenfordecency.org and look for "I've Got the Power" booklet. This will give you empowering information that may be key in making a difference in your life.

Thank you,
Carol Jean Bishop, Family Life Commissioner

PTSA PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Good attendance is the “real” ticket to school success. Unexcused and even excused absences challenge any student’s success. Students who are frequently absent miss out on important lessons and hands-on practice that isn’t easy or practical to recreate. What’s more, junior high school is simply more challenging — and essential — than ever before.

The National Science Foundation estimates that in 2010, as many as one-fourth of all jobs will be based on math, science and technology. Additionally, the number of new U.S. jobs requiring math and science — from retail sales to high-tech computer software design and programming — continues to grow. Without adequate skills and early training in these subjects, some fear that American students will be less qualified than their peers overseas for desirable jobs. Consider, too, foreign language studies, another junior high school staple. Not only do they teach cultural awareness (life enriching and increasingly important in our global economy), but they also provide students with the ability to communicate well and work together with their peers worldwide.

School needs to be Job One. On average, junior high school students have one to two hours of homework each night. Even one missed day can mean having to tackle three or more hours of homework the following night — practically a guarantee that kids won’t be doing their best work in the rush to just get through it all. Regular school attendance also teaches children the ethics of responsibility and dedication. These character traits, along with strong academic and technical knowledge, are what today’s employers say they value most in those they hire.

Kids need to know that, unless they are truly unwell, you expect them to go to school every day and do their best while there. Here are some suggestions:

- Make attendance and academics a priority. Show them that going off to work and meeting your commitments — even when it might seem tempting to call in “sick” — is something you do, too. Let them know that school attendance and homework come before time with friends, extracurricular activities or the computer. Also, help them understand the consequences of missing school in terms that will hit home for them (e.g., having to stay after school to make up missed work, missing out on after-school sports and clubs or time with friends).
- Help them get organized. Create a space in your home for kids to store backpacks, coats, sneakers and other supplies. Develop a routine where children help pack their own lunches and backpacks and do necessary laundry the night before. This will make mornings less hectic and help kids arrive at school on time each day.
- Set reasonable bedtimes. On average, junior high kids need about nine hours of sleep to be healthy and alert. As they move into the teen years, kids’ brains begin to signal them to stay up later — and to sleep in later the next day. Despite what nature is telling them, reinforce reasonable bedtimes for your children and encourage them to get up and get ready on their own.

Make medical and other appointments during non-school hours whenever possible. Schedule family vacations during school holidays or the summer break so students aren’t missing important lessons and struggling to make up for lost time. Making school attendance a priority helps children learn the good work and study habits that will serve them well now and throughout their lives.

LISTON ROJO EN CONTRA DE LA PORNOGRAFIA

WRAP Liston Rojo en contra de la Pornografía ha sido reconocida en la escuela Secundaria Lakeridge. Tenemos banderas en el corredor, el jueves 10 de febrero "Pelea la Nueva Droga" vino y presento información de mucho valor acerca de este tema tan importante acerca de los medios de comunicación y la influencia que causa en los niños. Varios estudiantes prometieron con sus firmas tomar medidas necesarias para permanecer limpios de pornografía.

Les recomendamos grandemente que tengan conversaciones acerca de este tema con sus jóvenes y que sea reforzada su relación con ellos en todas las áreas. Un recurso excelente se puede encontrar en www.womenfordecency.org y buscar por el folleto "I've Got the Power" ("Yo Tengo el Poder"). Esto le dará bastante información que puede ser la clave para hacer una diferencia en sus vidas.

Gracias,
Carol Jean Bishop, Comisionado Vida Familiar

MENSAJE DE LA PRESIDENTA DE PTSA

Buena asistencia es el boleto “real” para el éxito en la escuela. Ausencias no excusadas o aun excusadas ponen en riesgo el éxito del estudiante. Los estudiantes que frecuentemente tienen ausencias pierden lecciones importantes y el no participar en la practica la cual no es facil de volver a crear. Que mas, la secundaria es simplemente mas desafiante—y esencial—como nunca antes.

La Fundacion Nacional de Ciencias calcula que en 2010, un cuarto de todos los trabajos seran basados en las matematicas, ciencias y la tecnologia. Adicionalmente, el numero de nuevos trabajos en Estados Unidos siguen creciendo, los cuales requieren matematicas y ciencias—desde ventas hasta disenadores de computacion de alta tecnologia y programacio. Sin tener habilidades adecuadas y entrenamiento temprano en estas materias, algunos temen que los estudiantes americanos seran poco calificado en comparacion con otros estudiantes de otros paises para trabajos deseados. Considere, tambien, el estudio de otros idiomas es otra base de la escuela secundaria. No solamente ensena conocimiento cultural (enriquecimiento de la vida, algo importante en nuestra economia global), tambien provee a los estudiantes con la habilidad de comunicarse de una manera adecuada en el trabajo y con sus companeros a nivel mundial.

La escuela necesita ser el Trabajo Numero Uno. En promedio, los estudiantes de secundaria tienen de una a dos horas de tareas cada noche. Aun si pierden un dia de escuela significa tener que acumular tres o mas horas de tarea la siguiente noche.—practicamente, es una garantia, que los estudiantes no haran el mejor trabajo al tartar de hacer toda la tarea en carrera. Al asistir regularmente tambien les ensena a los estudiantes la etica de la responsabilidad y la dedicacion. Estas caracteristicas junto con el conocimiento academico y tecnico, es lo que los empleadores dicen que es de gran valor en aquellos que contratan.

Los niños necesitan saber esto, al menos que estén realmente enfermos, usted espera que ellos asistan a la escuela cada día y que hagan lo mejor que puedan al estar allí. A continuación hay algunas sugerencias que pueden ayudar:

- Haga una prioridad la asistencia a la escuela y lo academico. Demuestreles que al ir al trabajo y al cumplir con sus responsabilidades—aun que sea tentador llamar que esta “enfermo”—es algo que usted hace, tambien. Hagales saber que la asistencia a la escuela y hacer tareas viene antes que pasar tiempo con amigos, actividades extra-aula o la computadora. Tambien, ayudeles a entender las consecuencias de faltar a la escuela, (por ejemplo: que deben de quedarse despues de la escuela para hacer el trabajo que no hicieron, no permitirles ir a actividades como deportes, clubs o pasar tiempo con amigos.)
- Ayudenles a ser organizados. Cree espacio para las mochilas, los sueteres, zapatos y otros articulos de los niños. Desarrolle una rutina en donde los niños preparen sus propios almuerzos y sus mochilas y que laven la ropa que necesiten la noche anterior. Esto ayudara a que las mananas sean menos agitadas y que los niños puedan llegar a la escuela a tiempo cada dia.
- Pongales horarios razonables para irse a dormir. En promedio, estudiantes de secundaria deben de tener 9 horas para dormir para que estén saludables y alerta. Cuando se convierten en adolescentes, los cerebros de ellos envian senales de que deben de permanecer despiertos tarde—y que duerman extra en la manana. A pesar de lo que la naturaleza les este indicando, refuerce los horarios que ha puesto para irse a la cama y desafielos a que se levanten y que se alisten ellos solos para ir a la escuela.

Haga las citas medicas y otras durante horas despues de la escuela, cuando sea posible. Planee vacaciones familiares durante feriados o en el verano para que los estudiantes no pierdan lecciones importantes y que luego tengan problema en la escuela por el tiempo perdido. Hacer que la asistencia a la escuela sea una prioridad ayuda a los niños a aprender el buen trabajo y habitos de estudio que les ayudara en gran manera ahora y durante el resto de sus vidas.

School is Cool!
